Overview

New Zealand Certificate in Kaupapa Māori Public Health (Level 4) [Ref: 2870]

This qualification is intended for those who are already working, or who are seeking to work, under broad guidance in the area of kaupapa Māori public health.

The purpose of this qualification is to provide graduates who can preserve, protect, and promote the health and wellbeing of whānau, hapū, iwi, marae, and Māori communities.

Graduates will be able to understand and explain a kaupapa Māori public health perspective from social, economic, cultural and environmental contexts that contributes to the reduction of Māori health disparities.

New Zealand Certificate in Kaupapa Māori Public Health (Level 5) [Ref: 2871]

This qualification is intended for those who are already working, or seeking to work under limited supervision in the area of kaupapa Māori public health.

The purpose of this qualification is to provide graduates who can preserve, protect, and promote strategies to improve the health and wellbeing of whānau, hapū, iwi, marae, and Māori communities.

Graduates will be able to develop, and apply a kaupapa Māori public health perspective from social, economic, cultural and environmental contexts that contributes to the reduction of Māori health disparities.

New Zealand Diploma in Kaupapa Māori Public Health (Level 6) [Ref: 2872]

This qualification is intended for those who have advanced knowledge of te ao Māori and extensive experience working with Māori communities.

The purpose of this qualification is to provide graduates who can lead, promote, and enhance the continued development of kaupapa Māori public health, and encourage Māori to take control of their social, economic, cultural, and collective wellbeing.

Graduates will be able to design and evaluate kaupapa Māori public health initiatives incorporating social, economic, cultural and environmental contexts that contribute to the reduction of Māori health disparities.

Education Pathways

These qualifications may:

- lead to further study at higher levels in the public health sector
- also provide graduates with a pathway for entry into degree level programmes in the health sector.

Career Opportunities

These qualifications provide a pathway for those seeking to work effectively in Māori communities amongst whānau, hapū, and/or iwi.

Graduates of the certificate will have the transferable skills and knowledge to potentially secure roles in the Kaupapa Māori and the general public health sector including:
