Graduates will have developed knowledge and skills to complete projects and be supported to work independently.

Ngā hua o te tohu / Graduate Profile

Graduates of this qualification will be able to:

- apply practical, technical, and theoretical skills and knowledge in area of specialty to inform Ngā Toi development.
- analyse standard and non-standard processes of creative evolution and variation and apply Ngā Toi practice.
- apply a range of technical skills and knowledge to create solutions through self-reflection and collaboration.

- create and complete a body of work.
- assist in the management and/or support the leadership of a Ngā Toi project.

Ngā kaupapa o te tohu / Guiding Principles

This qualification is underpinned by the following principles:

Horopaki Toi

This principle encompasses a range of contexts that inform current view and potential future direction(s), of Ngā Toi as well as how they can influence other activities not generally considered art.

This principle also relates to pūkengatanga and kaitiakitanga, as expressed in Te Hono o Te Kahurangi.

Hātepe Auaha

This principle describes the means by which a practitioner formulates an original idea and then manifests that idea into reality. It involves the sequential formation and creative process.

This principle also relates to pūkengatanga, as expressed in Te Hono o Te Kahurangi.

Mahi Toi

This principle signifies the fundamental study of Ngā Toi in a chosen medium or media and a rationalisation of the choice of medium for any project.

This principle also relates to kaitiakitanga, as expressed in Te Hono o Te Kahurangi.

Rangatiratanga

This principle describes the skills and knowledge required to effectively plan, propose, execute, and report on a successful Ngā Toi project as well as the processes, kawa and tikanga that are utilised for its protection and management.

This principle also relates to rangatiratanga, as expressed in Te Hono o Te Kahurangi.

Ngā huarahi mātauranga / Education Pathway

The qualification provides a pathway for those seeking to improve or further develop their skills and knowledge in Ngā Toi.

Graduates may progress to the New Zealand Diploma in Ngā Toi (Level 6) [Ref: 2792].
