Ngā Mātāpono

Ngā Mātāpono provide guidance for Providers designing programmes that staircase the learning of all students

Each of the mātāpono focuses on different aspects of the journey of learning and development undertaken by the ākonga in their pursuit of competency in te reo, and within the wider concept of te reo and tikanga. Therefore these principles are predicated on a Māori world view and are contextualised through the applied practice of te reo me ngā tikanga.

This applied practice contextualises the application of tikanga in its many forms specifically including manaakitanga, whanaungatanga, kaitiakitanga and mauriora. Programme developers are encouraged to explore other key aspects of te ao Māori within their programmes that are of particular importance to the communities they serve. These may include kawa, wairuatanga, tapu, rāhui, ihi, mauri, utu and muru as they are applied in their natural context.

The Mātāpono are broad principles that ease their implementation and incorporation into the qualifications and subsequent programmes developed by Education Organisations. They are all-encompassing and support intellectual creativity and flexibility. Further, the four Mātāpono acknowledge people and place, enhance the use and recognition of te reo, and recognise the value of Te Reo qualifications.

v. Mana Tangata:

Kia puāwai te pitomata: the potential of each learner that acknowledges one's inherent talents to learn. There is potential within each ākonga to:

- Identify, explore and develop one's natural talents
- Increase confidence, proficiency and competence in the use of te reo me ngā tikanga
- Learn and understand the relevance of te reo me ngā tikanga in one's life and activities.

Mana Tangata explores and develops one's cultural identity and authority but is not limited to:

- Manaakitanga (reciprocity of kindness, respect, humanity)
- Kaitiakitanga (guardianship, preservation)
- Whanaungatanga (relationships, engagement)
- Whakapapa (cultural discourse)
- Mauri Ora (health, well-being – hauora, waiora)
- Mātauranga (knowledge).

vi. Mana Whenua:

Tūrangawaewae: the acknowledgement and affirmation that the learner has a reciprocal connection and duty to the care, maintenance, and preservation of the environment and natural resources. The Mana Whenua principle requires each learner to reaffirm their connectedness to Ranginui, Papatūānuku me ngā atua Māori through studies of Te Reo, Tikanga Māori, and the Māori world view.

Mana Whenua examines inter-relationships of people, time, and place that may include but is not limited to:

- Whakapapa (cultural identity, legacy, aspirations, discourse)
- Kaitiakitanga (duty of care, guardianship, preservation)
- Manaakitanga (respect, hospitality, humanity)
- Rangatiratanga (leadership, stewardship)
- Auahatanga (innovation, enterprise).

vii. Mana Reo:

Kia tangata whenua ai te reo: the confidence and proficiency of each learner to effectively use te reo in a range of settings and contexts.

Mana Reo develops confidence, competence, and fluency in all aspects of learning te reo me ngā tikanga. This may include but is not limited to:

- critical inquiry into political, social, historical, and economic issues associated with Te Reo
- research and analysis that builds understanding and appreciation of Ngā Tikanga
- place and value accorded to te reo me ngā tikanga by central and local government agencies, by whānau, hapū, iwi, hāpori, by rūnanga ā-iwi, marae, and in reo Māori homes and places of work
- cultural identity and legacy – proverbs, colloquialisms, dialects, lexicon

- challenges and opportunities to maintain te mana o te reo me ngā tikanga by Māori, for Māori, in Māori, and for the benefit of all New Zealanders.

viii. Mana Ao Tūroa:

The Mana Ao Tūroa principle will focus the Learner on the required skills of the field in their performance, and the required knowledge of the field in its application. Mana Ao Tūroa complements and supports the other principles by providing opportunities for students to practise te reo me ngā tikanga by combining the skills and knowledge they have learnt and showcasing them in the manner that they normally manifest in the modern world. The Mana Ao Tūroa principle will contribute the most to transformation at each level with their respective requirements of skills performance and knowledge application. Such transformation will be evident as student's transition from learner to practitioner, from follower to leader, from the emerging light to enlightenment.

“Mai i te Pia ki te Tauria, mai i te Hāpai ō ki te Amorangi,
Mai i te Wheiao ki te Ao Mārama”

Mana Ao Tūroa builds capacity to effectively and appropriately use skill, knowledge, and Te Reo in accordance with ngā tikanga ā-whānau, ā-hapū, ā-iwi, ā-rōpū, ā-kura, aha atu, aha atu that may include but is not limited to:

- Huihuinga (encounters of and with people)
- Kaupapa (purpose, endeavour, philosophy)
- Wero (challenge, dispute, attitudes, opinions)
- Whakatau (resolution, problem solving, authorisation)
- Mate atu he tikanga, ora ake he tikanga (adaptive practice, circumstances).

Ngā Taumata o Te Reo

Ngā Taumata o Te Reo reflects the different stages of learning te reo, and are modelled on the Poutama conceptual framework for progressive learning. Through Ngā Taumata o Te Reo the wider aspirations of whānau, hapū, iwi for te reo will also be fulfilled.

Te reo kia tika, te reo kia rere, te reo kia Māori!

Ngā taumata o te reo are integral to student outcomes and should be interwoven into programmes leading to Te Reo qualifications at all levels.

Te Taumata Tikanga

Te tikanga – kia tika, kia rere, kia Māori!

Te taumata tikanga are integral to graduate outcomes and should be interwoven and expressed as relevant to each level and specialist field.

Kia tika alludes to the notion that tikanga in practice is contextual and may manifest in different ways at different times in different contextual applications. Each of these ways is correct in its appropriate context and should be applied as such.

Kia rere alludes to the notion that tikanga in practice is most important in its application and gives guidance to practitioners that allows them to pursue success in their endeavour within the parameters of their practice.

Kia Māori alludes to the notion that tikanga in practice is predicated on a foundation of understanding sourced from a Māori worldview. This worldview contributes universal principles that are widely applicable in general and specifically applicable in context.

It is recommended that Programme Developers and Teachers follow the orthographic conventions for te reo Māori, as set by Te Taura Whiri i Te Reo Māori in Te Taura Whiri i te Reo Māori Guidelines for Māori Language Orthography:
