

Co-Managed Trial Case Studies

NZQA has been working closely with a number of schools and kura on Co-Managed Trials. These are different from the other Digital Trials and Pilots, in that they involve digital examinations on behalf of the schools to increase its understanding of digital examinations.

In addition to this, the schools were visited by NZQA for a series of site visits over several months leading up to, and after their digital examination experience.

This information is progressively being developed into a series of case studies to inform school considerations around digital examinations.

Please click the links below to view the case studies. They will be updated.
