

MĀTAURANGA MĀORI QUALIFICATIONS

REVIEW PLAN | APRIL 2022

Hei Tīmatanga - Introduction

Tōku reo tōku ohooho, tōku reo tōku māpihi maurea

These qualifications are an important mechanism for building the capacity and capability of ākonga, whānau and iwi; empowering them to exercise rangatiratanga and to make effective contributions of consequence to te ao Māori today and into the future.

Qualification reviews are being undertaken as part of a maintenance cycle, which focuses on ensuring that they continue to meet the overall needs of whānau, hapū, iwi, and the sector; and remain aligned with the rules for listing qualifications on the NZQF.

For the duration of the review, MQS (Māori Qualifications Services) will work in collaboration with stakeholders to support the review and development of qualifications that:

- meet the current and future needs of ākonga, whānau, hapū, iwi and hāpori Māori
- are easy to understand for end users and other stakeholders
- enable and support high quality education, employment and/or community pathways
- represent value, and are recognised as useful and relevant by users and others with an interest in the suite of qualifications
- are achievable in different delivery contexts
- contribute to the strengthening of Māori as a people and the advancement of mātauranga Māori.

Working collaboratively, and with the establishment of a Review Working Group, MQS will work in the spirit of manaakitanga, kotahitanga, and whanaungatanga to ensure the successful implementation of this review.

Tāhuhu Kōrero – Background

Te Huarahi – Outline of the Review Process (The Approach)

Step One: Preparing for the review of the qualifications

In preparation for the review, MQS will undertake the following actions/activities:

- gathering research and data to inform an initial overview of the qualifications to be reviewed. This information may include:
 - Māori Workforce Development Research.
 - labour market and census information.
 - qualification usage data from NZQA and TEC.
 - other research from relevant providers, Industry and government agencies, including:
 - information on graduate outcomes (employment, pathways to higher education, performance information).
 - database of industry stakeholders (including Māori stakeholders) and networks for consultation.
 - Information, about possible qualification structures.
 - feedback and kōrero from whānau, hapū, iwi who contribute to the qualifications being reviewed.

Step Two: Planning the Review

A Review Working Group will be established to provide detailed and technical input into the review and development of the qualifications to be reviewed.

Feedback will be sought from education organisations and industry, whānau, hapū, iwi and other end-users on current qualifications and any gaps in the suite of qualifications.

Step Three: Conducting the review

The current qualifications will be mapped to sector requirements to help determine if the current qualifications are fit for purpose.

Where qualifications are not fit for purpose, or where gaps are identified, new drafts will be developed based on an analysis of all information gathered and discussed. This may include development of draft strategic purpose statements, outcome statements (graduate profile, education pathways, and employment/ cultural/ community pathways).

Once completed, a new qualification or suite of qualifications will be presented to the Review Working Group for feedback/approval prior to being released for full consultation.

Step Four: Reporting the Review and submission to NZQA

Following the consultation process, MQS will prepare a draft report with recommendations for the new qualification or suite of qualifications for approval by the Review Working Group, and revision where appropriate, before submitting the final report and qualifications to Quality Assurance Māori for approval.

Te Whakapātanga – Consultation and on-going communication

Throughout the review process the MQS will develop and maintain a database of stakeholders. Organisations and individuals will have the opportunity to be added to the database at any time throughout the review.

To ensure all stakeholders are aware of the review progress and have an opportunity for input, there will be on-going electronic communications distributed, including:

- the qualifications review page on the NZQA website to host all communications including Review Working Group meeting outcomes, and draft documents for consultation.
- e-mail communications throughout the review, directing stakeholders to the review page on the NZQA website.

It is acknowledged that this form of consultation (electronic) will not meet the needs of all stakeholders. As a result, face to face consultation processes may be put in place, where appropriate, to engage those stakeholders to ensure their input is captured.

A comprehensive Communications Plan will be developed and monitored to ensure whānau, hapū, iwi, and other stakeholders have multiple opportunities to feed in, and receive feedback from, the review.

Te Hono o Te Kahurangi – Review and evaluation through a mātauranga Māori lens

Approval to list the qualification(s) subsequent to this review will be sought under Te Hono o Te Kahurangi.

It is proposed then that, the review and evaluation be conducted under the kaupapa of Te Hono o Te Kahurangi; namely:

Rangatiratanga	The review will reflect a unique and distinctively Māori approach to ensure the needs of ākonga, the wider community and other key stakeholders are met.
Whanaungatanga	The care of ākonga, whānau, hapū, iwi and mātauranga Māori itself will be a fundamental outcome of the review
Manaakitanga	The presence and expressions of mana-enhancing behaviours and practices will be evident between all review participants.

Pūkengatanga	Those directly involved in the review will have the skills and knowledge needed to ensure that the values, beliefs, needs and aspirations of the people are met.
Kaitiakitanga	All review participants will ensure that the authenticity, integrity and use of mātauranga Māori is protected, maintained and transmitted appropriately.
Te reo Māori	As the primary vehicle for expressing and transmitting Māori knowledge, values and culture, te reo Māori is practiced, promoted and celebrated.

Ngā Mahi me ngā Haepapa – Roles and Responsibilities

Review Working Group

Representing key stakeholders with experience in qualification development and delivery, the Review Working Group will look strategically across the sector/industry included in the review and consider the current and future workforce development needs and associated qualifications.

The Review Working Group will also undertake the qualification review including the development of strategic purpose statement/s and qualification outcome statement/s (including graduate profile/s).

The Review Working Group Draft Terms of Reference is attached to this Plan.

MQS will work collaboratively with the Review Working Group to:

- act as the secretariat for the review and prepare papers for wider consultation
- keep progress, process, outputs, and outcomes on track
- ensure all stakeholders are involved and represented

Ngā Rawa – Resources and Costs

As a principle, all project costs will be kept to a minimum and technology (including e-mail, phone and conference calls) will be used where appropriate to keep costs to a minimum.

For the review of qualifications, MQS will assume the costs of the hui venue and catering, as well as administration costs.

The following support will also be provided:

- preparing and disseminating agenda and related papers, schedule of meetings and meeting records; documents required for approval to develop and approval to list qualifications; consultation documents and collated feedback from consultation
- maintaining web pages for information and consultation.
