The similarities between Eden Park and the Roman Coliseum?

- The similarities between the two stadiums is that they both have events held in them and the tunnels they run through is the same for Eden park where the All Blacks run into the field.

- The similarities between Eden park and the Roman Coliseum is that the settings are the same and the design of the coliseum is the same as Eden park as the shape of it is a elliptical.

- These are secondary picture that I got from Google images and these pictures shows the identity of the Eden park (left) and the Roman coliseum (right).
