In this concept, I experimented with the shape again and formed a V shape from the building, giving it a more open-plan layout. This shape allows for better light and geometric shapes make the building aesthetically pleasing and adaptable to different positions within the environment.

In this concept, I developed the placement of windows, using multiple panels of glass windows. This concept is best for the simple style of windows.