Diary entry 1

In our basketball the IPS I demonstrated was inclusiveness. I demonstrated this IPS by passing the ball to as many members team members as possible. For example, when I received a pass I looked to pass to a team member that perhaps hadn’t had the ball a lot. This impacted on others in my team by giving them the confidence to handle the ball and play a better game of basketball. For example, at first AA was quite withdrawn from the game and wasn’t very active in it. But after a while of me passing the ball to her she began to dribble with it and improved considerably in the course of the lesson.

When I demonstrated inclusiveness this also impacted on my team because everyone was able to be actively involved in the game. When this happened, my team was able to work better together because we were all participating as a team and everybody was helping and contributing towards the game. This helped us to play a better game of basketball all round.

Next time, I could encourage other team members to pass the ball to a variety of players, and also to suggest for players to get into space and/or positions where passing the ball to them is easier and will help us to win the game. This way, it will mean that even more people will be able to have a turn passing, receiving and dribbling the ball so that we can all improve on our basketball skills and contribute to the team and game.
