Explanatory Notes

- This achievement standard is derived from the Health and Physical Education learning area in The New Zealand Curriculum, Learning Media, Ministry of Education, 2007; Level 8 Achievement Objectives (relevant to the context used), and is related to the material in the Teaching and Learning Guide for Health and Physical Education, Ministry of Education, 2012 at <http://seniorsecondary.tki.org.nz>.

Assessment is consistent with and reflects the underlying concepts (hauora, socio-ecological perspective, health promotion, attitudes and values) of the Health and Physical Education learning area in The New Zealand Curriculum, page 22.

- Evaluate* involves considering the implications for people's well-being of models of health promotion by:
 - comparing and contrasting models for health promotion
 - explaining advantages and disadvantages of models for health promotion
 - drawing conclusions about the effectiveness of the models.

Evaluate, in depth, involves:

- exploring links between models for health promotion and their use for improving people's well-being in given situation(s)
- drawing reasoned conclusions about the effectiveness of the models.

Evaluate, perceptively, involves:

- showing insight about how the models for health promotion relate to the underlying health concepts (hauora, socio-ecological perspective, health promotion, and attitudes and values)
- drawing conclusions informed by the relationship of the models to these concepts.

3 Models for health promotion that use Health Education concepts and terms may include behavioural change, self-empowerment and collective action models, supported by documents such as the Ottawa Charter, the Bangkok Charter and Te Tiriti o Waitangi. For information on the Health Education models of health promotion, see Making Meaning: Making a Difference, Learning Media, Ministry of Education, 2004, pp.14-15 (http://www.tki.org.nz/r/health/cia/make_meaning/index_e.php).
