Explanatory Notes

- This achievement standard is derived from the Health and Physical Education learning area of The New Zealand Curriculum, Learning Media, Ministry of Education 2007; Level 8 achievement objectives (relevant to the context used) and is related to the material in the Teaching and Learning Guide for Home Economics, Ministry of Education, 2012 at <http://seniorsecondary.tki.org.nz>.

Assessment is consistent with and reflects the underlying concepts (hauora, socio-ecological perspective, health promotion, attitudes and values) of the Health and Physical Education learning area in The New Zealand Curriculum, page 22.

This standard is also derived from Te Marautanga o Aotearoa. For details of Te Marautanga o Aotearoa achievement objectives to which this standard relates, see the Papa Whakaako for the relevant learning area.

- Analyse a food related ethical dilemma for New Zealand society* involves:

 - explaining the nature of the ethical dilemma and the contrasting viewpoints associated with it
 - explaining how the ethical dilemma may affect New Zealand society.

Analyse, in depth, a food related ethical dilemma for New Zealand society involves:

- exploring the underlying beliefs, values, and practices associated with those holding contrasting viewpoints
- explaining how the underlying beliefs, values, and practices influence viewpoints relating to the ethical dilemma.

Analyse comprehensively a food related ethical dilemma for New Zealand society involves:

- critically evaluating the viewpoints of different stakeholders and outlining some possible consequences and challenges for New Zealand society.

3 A food related ethical dilemma is one that challenges beliefs, values, and practices related to food. An ethical dilemma requires a choice to be made between two or more options. All options may be equally desirable, or they may all be morally acceptable but mutually exclusive.

4 A food related ethical dilemma may relate to:

- fortified foods
- intensive food production
- sponsorship
- country of origin labelling
- genetic modification
- unsustainable practices
- fluoridation of water
- fair trade
- taxation of food
- marketing of energy dense, nutrient poor food directed at children
- food sovereignty.
