Explanatory Notes

- 1 Demonstrate understanding of written Korean related to everyday contexts involves:
- identifying the meaning of relevant aspects of information, ideas, and opinions in written Korean
 - communicating understanding despite inconsistencies.

Demonstrate sound understanding of written Korean related to everyday contexts involves:

- connecting the meaning of relevant aspects of information, ideas, and opinions in written Korean with supporting detail
- communicating understanding that is not significantly hindered by inconsistencies.

Demonstrate thorough understanding of written Korean related to everyday contexts involves:

- interpreting the meaning from a comprehensive selection of relevant information, ideas, and opinions in written Korean with precision
- communicating understanding that is not hindered by inconsistencies.

2 Everyday contexts relate to events or experiences that are familiar and relevant to the student and may reflect Korean-speaking communities, te ao Māori, the Pacific, and Aotearoa New Zealand.

Examples include:

- school
- family
- hobbies
- holidays.

3 Identifying meaning, connecting meaning, and interpreting meaning all involve applying knowledge of Korean vocabulary, grammar, and cultural references to understand the context, audience, and purpose of written Korean.

4 When demonstrating understanding of written Korean, inconsistencies are points of misunderstanding, omission, or addition which impact the overall meaning or clarity of response.

Examples include:

- misunderstanding or misrepresenting information
- drawing conclusions based on partial evidence
- information that is not linked to the source material.

5 This achievement standard is intended to assess students who are acquiring skill in Korean. The level it describes is designed to be accessible to those who only begin formal study of the language in junior secondary school.

6 Refer to the NCEA glossary for Māori, Pacific, and further subject-specific terms and concepts.

7 This achievement standard is derived from the Learning Languages Learning Area at Level 6 of The New Zealand Curriculum: Learning Media, Ministry of Education, 2007.
