Overall, is tourism beneficial for Barcelona? Explain why, or why not, and support your answer with the positive AND negative effects mentioned in the passage.

Overall ~~they~~ ~~reach~~ ~~the~~ tourism in Barcelona is considered bad for the population even though it has some good parts. Tourism does help the ~~the~~ local economy by making ~~the~~ restaurants, shops and hotels have more business and the money that tourists spend in local attractions can be used to finance constructions in the city to help improve the infrastructure of the city, and some people ~~can~~ find that contact with tourists is ~~very~~ great to make them learn more seeing as they are in constant contact with different cultures and they can even practice english & with tourists ~~some~~ sometimes which is very useful. However, even ~~with~~ with the benefits said above, the high number of tourists that in 2017 reached almost 15 million of people.

There is more space for you to answer this question on page 4 ►

~~For~~ ~~have~~ has a negative effect in the city as well. Too many people in the city makes public transportation too full, nights in the center of the city too loud making it hard to Spanish people to sleep, the streets become dirty because tourists don't respect the city, some Spanish people are even forced to move away from the center because the majority of apartments in the center ~~of~~ are only available to tourists because they pay more and only stay for a few days, which is also a bad thing for hotels seeing as people are now choosing to either rent houses or apartments instead, meaningful ~~area~~ monuments in the city such as the ~~th~~ Sagrada Familia (sacred family) church become almost theme parks with gigantic lines with no end that block the streets, and even Spanish culture becomes a stereotype, tourists look for a concrete idea of Barcelona that can fit what they want it and its people to be, and it is not the reality at all. Even the good parts of tourism such as the creation of a lot of jobs in the tourism and hospitality industry ~~become~~ becomes a bad thing, because they can only find precarious jobs that are seasonal during the holiday period, so they end in September when tourists leave and they all lose their jobs. Tourism is making the city lose its charm.

- (a) Describe why Mario thinks his mother is a hypocrite, using detailed evidence from the passage to justify your answer.

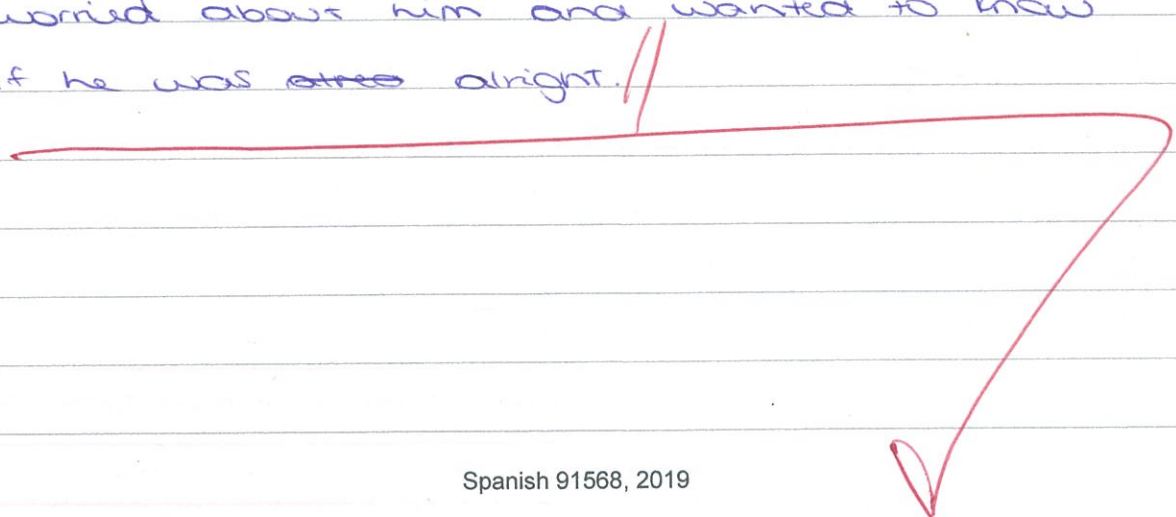

Mario thinks that his mother is a hypocrite because most of the advice that she gives to him, are things that she doesn't do it herself in his opinion. She tells him that he needs to be independent and make his own mistakes to learn from them but she doesn't let him do what he wants and keeps giving him advice on what to do and what he shouldn't do while doing the exact opposite. She says that he shouldn't watch too many episodes on Netflix at once at night when he has to wake up early in the morning to go to school and that is vital to have at least 9 hours of sleep but ends up spending almost the whole night talking with her mom on Skype. She thinks he doesn't have habits and insists that he eats too much fast food however she is almost always eating chocolate and he does exercise, he plays volleyball once or twice a week. She says that he needs to spend less time on his phone, when she ~~so~~ uses hers almost ~~constantly~~ all the time while saying it's for work, but he says that he also uses

- (b) Explain how Mario's mother might counter Mario's arguments, using details from the passage to justify your answer.

She has said that when she spends the night talking on Skype ~~is~~ with her mother is because of the different timezones, which is a valid reason and she should not have to lose the time she has with her own mother just because they live in different places and children do need to sleep for more time than adults so Mario would have to sleep earlier than her anyway. She worries about his eating habits because she is his mother and eating too much fast food is ~~much~~ worse than eating chocolate, dark chocolate can even have health benefits. She has a job that is very important to her and to the family so her need to be in touch with it on her phone is understandable and she doesn't end up ~~by~~ being distracted by social media when she is using it. And lastly, the reason why she got angry when Mario didn't answer his phone is because most probably she got worried about him and wanted to know if he was ~~stres~~ alright.

QUESTION THREE

According to this podcast, in what ways can pedal-powered machines benefit people and be a sustainable option for a rural community?

Justify your answer with specific evidence from the passage.

Pedal-powered machines are changing the lives of rural communities in Latin America because they can do the same work that electric powered machines do but by only pedalling a bicycle, so that that people that live in rural and remote areas and don't have electric energy can do domestic tasks such as washing clothes easier, when before pedal-powered machines they would have to do it by hand. Which saves them time and work, time and effort that they can now dedicate to other things such as paid work. Those machines can create work to people that don't only, because they can for example use one to make juice and sell it to travellers in hot days. Anything that they need could be a pedal-powered machine, they don't need imagination and people are starting to use more of their creative talent and technical abilities when building them and also ~~bettering~~ having better relationships with their neighbors because many of them are building the machines and sharing the plans with the community, which is great because the cost of making it is zero, they only need to download the plans for the internet.

It is a sustainable option because they don't usually need to buy new parts, they can recycle old parts of bicycles and other machines to make them, and so they don't need to throw things away or make completely new appliances and the ~~main~~ maintenance is very easy because there are no expensive electrical parts that stop working.

Subject	Spanish		Standard	91568	Overall grade	20
Q	Grade	Annotation
1	E7	This question is E7 because the candidate has picked up on the majority of points mentioned in the text and also correctly inferred that overall, according to the speakers, tourism is negative. They have also been able to infer information and give specific complex detail when justifying. For example: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • so many tourists make public transport (i.e. metro) too full • tourists staying in apartments and flats is bad for hotels • the culture is reduced to stereotypes and tourists are looking for a concrete image of Spain that Barcelona doesn't fit into • the employment is precarious due to its seasonal nature and that at the end of it people lose their jobs.
2	M6	This question is M6 because although the candidate has gleaned a lot of lexical information from the text, they have not often connected it in order to infer. Instead they have often guessed at information that is not inferred by the text.
3	E7	This question is E7 because the candidate has used complex lexical information in a well-connected manner to show all the benefits mentioned in the text and also answer the question.
