Question One		Expected Coverage
Geographic Concept: Population diversity
N1	N2	A3	A4	M5	M6	E7	E8
Limited attempt to identify a pyramid shape that fits the named case study (studies) OR Limited attempt to describe the named case study (studies) population composition.	Attempts to identify a pyramid shape that fits the named case study (studies) OR Some attempt to describe the named case study (studies) population composition.	Identifies the pyramid shape that best fits the named case study (studies). Some attempt to describe the named case study (studies) population diversity.	Clearly identifies the pyramid shape that best fits the named case study (studies). Attempts to describe the named case study (studies) population diversity. Uses case study evidence or ideas from the resource material.	Clearly links the named case study (studies) to a pyramid shape, giving some valid reasons why. Attempts to explain the named case study (studies) population diversity. Uses some detailed case study information and ideas from the resource material.	Clearly links the named case study (studies) to a pyramid shape giving valid reasons why. Explains the named case study (studies) population diversity. Uses detailed case study information and ideas from the resource material.	Clearly links the named case study (studies) to a pyramid shape, giving valid reasons why. Explains, in detail, the concept of population diversity, and integrates detailed specific case study material and ideas from the resources, with some insight.	Clearly links the named case study (studies) to a pyramid shape, giving valid reasons why. Fully explains the concept of population diversity, and fully integrates detailed specific case study material and ideas from the resources, with insight.

N0 = No response; no relevant evidence.

Question Two	Expected Coverage
Geographic Concept: Population distribution
N1	N2	A3	A4	M5	M6	E7	E8
Attempts to describe the population distribution of the named case study (studies). No supporting evidence.	Attempts to describe the population distribution of the named case study (studies). Includes little relevant supporting evidence from the named case study (studies).	Attempts to describe the population distribution of the named case study (studies) OR Uses valid ideas from the resources to help describe the named case study (studies) population distribution (one factor), with some valid supporting evidence from the named case study (studies).	Describes the population distribution of the named case study (studies) Uses valid ideas from the resources to help describe the named case study (studies) population distribution (two factors), with some valid supporting evidence from the named case study (studies).	Attempts to explain the population distribution of the named case study (studies). Uses valid ideas from the resources to attempt to explain the named case study (studies) population distribution, with some detailed supporting evidence from the named case study (studies). Refers, in detail, to one factor influencing population distribution from the resources provided.	Explains the population distribution of the named case study (studies). Uses valid ideas from the resources to explain the named case study (studies) population distribution, including detailed supporting evidence from the named case study (studies). Refers, in detail, to two factors influencing population distribution from the resources provided.	Fully explains the population distribution of the named case study (studies). Integrates detailed supporting evidence from the named case study (studies). Refers, in detail, to two or more factors influencing population distribution (from the resources provided). Shows some insight and understanding of the concept of population distribution.	Fully explains the population distribution of the named case study (studies). Integrates detailed supporting evidence from the named case study (studies). Refers, in detail, to two or more factors influencing population distribution (from the resources provided). Shows insight and a sound understanding and application of the concept of population distribution.

N0 = No response; no relevant evidence.

Question Three		Expected Coverage
Geographic Concept: Population migration and mobility
N1	N2	A3	A4	M5	M6	E7	E8
Attempts to identify headings for the migration model. OR Limited attempt to relate how migration occurs, but includes no case study evidence.	Partially identifies headings for migration model. Attempts to relate the named case study to how migration occurs.	Correctly identifies TWO headings for the migration model. Some attempt to describe how migration occurs within the named case study. Includes limited details, but some examples. May attempt to link to migration model.	Correctly identifies most headings for the migration model. Clearly describes how migration occurs within the named case study. Uses some information, or examples from the resource material, which could include migration model.	Correctly identifies most headings for the migration model. Partially explains how migration occurs within the named case study. Attempts to explain the concept of migration, using some detailed examples from the resource material and the named case study.	Correctly identifies most headings for the migration model. Explains how migration occurs within the named case study. Explains the concept of migration and mobility, using relevant ideas from the model and detailed material from the named case study.	Correctly identifies most headings for the migration model. Fully explains how migration occurs within the named case study. Fully explains the concept of migration and mobility, by integrating detailed material from the named case study, and ideas from the resource material, with some insight.	Correctly identifies most headings for the migration model. Fully explains how migration occurs within the named case study. Demonstrates a thorough understanding of the concept of migration and mobility, by fully integrating detailed material from the named case study, and ideas from the resource material, with insight.

N0 = No response; no relevant evidence.
