

- all unit standards have been updated with legislative changes, including the establishment of Land Transport New Zealand;
- standardisation of special notes and definitions;
- updating of reference material;
- expansion and clarification of assessment requirements.

Specific changes to unit standards include:

- the focus of 1777 is on costing a vehicle used in a road transport service, rather than on the whole service, and the credits have been reduced by one;
- 18118 builds on the requirements of 1777;
- the level for 1778 has been reduced by one to reflect more accurately the level of responsibility;
- 1779 has reductions in both level and credits to reflect more accurately the level of responsibility and the amount of learning required. The taxi industry is specifically excluded, and referred to unit standard 18111;
- 18109 now includes a requirement to access legislation as part of the assessment;
- the credit level in 18110, 18118, 18119 has been increased by one to reflect increased requirements;
- the level of 18114 has been increased by one to reflect more accurately the level of responsibility;
- the credits in 18122 have been increased by two to reflect more accurately the amount of learning required;
- 18288 has been updated to introduce the term preferred by industry, perishable products, rather than refrigerated food;
- the credits in 19498 have been reduced by one to take account of the reduced assessment requirements;
- the prerequisite requirements for 18115 have been removed.

Unit standards categorised as category C or D expire at the end of December 2006.
