Date this report publishedApril 2011

The qualifications documents were not republished. Exemptions have been applied in the NZQA qualifications database, but for logistical reasons will not appear on the qualification documents published on the NZQA website.

Summary of review and consultation process

Between October and December 2010, National Qualifications Services (NQS) conducted consultation with Standard Setting Bodies (SSBs) affected by the review of NQS Core Health First Aid unit standards. It was proposed that all qualifications specifying expiring standards 6400-6402 should have reverse transition included for the replacement standards 26551 and 26552, and that qualifications specifying the lapsing domain Core Health should have reverse transition included for the new First Aid domain.

Those SSBs that agreed to the proposal have had applicable reverse transition included in the affected qualifications.

The review of the First Aid unit standards was completed in December 2010. For a copy of the unit standard review report please see First Aid Review.

Main changes resulting from the review

The following reverse transition for standards was included in affected qualifications where applicable:

Credit for	Exempt from
26551, 26552	6400
26552	6401
26551	6402

The following reverse transition for classifications was included in affected qualifications where applicable:

Standards from	Are treated as Standards from
Health > Health Studies > First Aid	Health > Health Studies > Core Health

Please note, only credits from the lapsing Core Health domain in the Health Studies subfield may be used for the classification exemption (not credits from the newly registered Core Health domain in the Health, Disability, and Aged Support subfield).

Standard Setting Bodies

The SSB's listed below agreed to proposed exemption plan. Those SSB's that did not agree must revise or review their affected qualifications before 31 December 2013 (the expiry date of the replaced standards).
