Planned review date

December 2022

Summary

In March 2020, these unit standards were designated expiring without replacement as a result of low usage. However, industry has subsequently confirmed ongoing need for the standards which are included in a programme of industry training leading to the New Zealand Certificate in Mining and Quarrying (First-line Supervision) (Level 4) with strands in Surface, and Underground [Ref: 2783].

The content of the standards has been confirmed as fit for purpose and a planned review date of 2022 has been specified.

Main changes

- Unit standards 24473, 28792, 28796 and 28982 were reinstated.

Impact on Consent and Moderation Requirements (CMR)

The standards were moved from CMR 0114 to CMR 0014.
