Guidance Information

- 1 The basic principles underpinning tikanga are common, but while there are some constants, the details of performance of tikanga, and their explanation, may differ. These differences may be at a rohe, iwi, hapū, whānau, or marae level. The context of the learning should include the tikanga of the local mana whenua (if capable), but learning others' tikanga is also encouraged. This is in order to enrich and enhance understanding of tikanga, and the associated reo.
- 2 The context of the inquiries required should begin with the local rohe or takiwā. Where local rohe are also occupied by a number of other iwi or hapū, the tangata whenua or mana whenua view will take precedence. Other iwi or hapū views should be encouraged in order to enrich and enhance understanding of key Māori kaupapa, tikanga and take.
- 3 The resource support listed is given as a guide only and is not intended to be in any way prescriptive. It is acknowledged that different areas may have their own written and unwritten repositories of knowledge relevant to this unit standard. Resource support may include, but is not limited to:

- 4 Participation and recognition of te Tiriti o Waitangi (te Tiriti) by hapū and iwi throughout the country varied considerably. Most of the contact with Pākehā up until the introduction of te Tiriti had occurred in the North. Te Tiriti was not signed in every area – indeed some hapū and iwi refused to sign the document.
- 5 The impact of the Treaty of Waitangi on the history of Aotearoa continues to be debated. Many Māori still see the Treaty as the covenant that binds Māori and Pākehā. It is also seen as a Treaty that was never honoured or was ignored by a succession of governments. The Treaty provided the opportunity for the British to take control of the management and, eventually, the sovereignty of the land. The Treaty laid the platform for government and the legislation that followed.
- 6 Recommended for entry: Unit 16048, Describe the development and introduction of te Tiriti o Waitangi/ the Treaty of Waitangi; and Unit 16049, Compare the English and Māori versions of te Tiriti o Waitangi/ the Treaty of Waitangi.
