Guidance Information

- 1 Definition
Good performance is defined as at least over mean performance, and/or industry targets for a production system.
- 2 Industry targets are the generally accepted physical performance measures determined by industry peak bodies. This could include livestock performance targets, pasture production targets, and farm production performance. Examples of industry targets may be found at DairyNZ, <http://www.dairynz.co.nz/>, Beef+Lamb New Zealand, <http://www.beeflambnz.com/>, and DeerNZ, <http://www.deernz.org/>.
- 3 The recommended strategies in 1.4 must consider the impact on overall productivity and profitability, environmental impacts, social responsibility and system efficiencies to align with current good management practice.

Outcomes and performance criteria

Outcome 1

Benchmark own farm's physical performance against primary industry performance targets.

Performance criteria

- 1.1 Determine physical performance areas to benchmark to improve performance.
- 1.2 Determine industry good performance targets to benchmark against.

1.3 Analyse own farm's performance data against industry good performance targets.

1.4 Recommend strategies to improve farm performance.

Range a minimum of two strategies;
recommendation must include a financial implication of each strategy.
