Explanatory notes

- 1 Definitions
Service philosophy refers to the model or approach to support that is applied within a health or wellbeing setting. A service philosophy provides an over-arching set of underlying principles, aims and objectives, operational parameters, and reviewable outcomes which direct the nature of support and the way in which it is provided.
- 2 Health or wellbeing contexts include but are not limited to – the acute care, aged care, community support, disability, mental health, social services and youth development sectors, in New Zealand.
- 3 The service philosophy used as the focus for assessment of this unit standard must be agreed upon by the candidate and their assessor prior to assessment.

Please note

Providers must be granted consent to assess against standards (accredited) by NZQA, before they can report credits from assessment against unit standards or deliver courses of study leading to that assessment.

Industry Training Organisations must be granted consent to assess against standards by NZQA before they can register credits from assessment against unit standards.

Providers and Industry Training Organisations, which have been granted consent and which are assessing against unit standards must engage with the moderation system that applies to those standards.

Requirements for consent to assess and an outline of the moderation system that applies to this standard are outlined in the Consent and Moderation Requirements (CMRs). The CMR also includes useful information about special requirements for organisations wishing to develop education and training programmes, such as minimum qualifications for tutors and assessors, and special resource requirements.
