Guidance Information

- 1 Assessment must be conducted in real business context(s) or based on scenario(s) which must reflect the requirements and practicalities for conducting business in Aotearoa New Zealand.

These requirements and practicalities must include meeting the requirements of all relevant legislation and should address such areas as the real business or scenario-based context's:

- purpose and goals/objectives;
- future development;
- external operating environment;
- internal processes, accountabilities, and relationships.

The requirements and practicalities of the context(s) provide evidence for this unit standard.

The real business or scenario-based context(s) and their requirements and practicalities must be sufficiently complex to enable demonstration of the full range of competence for achievement of the outcome.

- 2 Personal and interpersonal skills and behaviours have been included in this standard as performance criteria. These skills and behaviours must not be addressed separately, but as part of an integrated assessment with the technical skills.

3 Definitions

All Project Management terms used in this standard can be found and defined at:

www.pmi.org.

Behaviour refers to:

- for professional: attitudes, qualities and behaviours;
- for ethical: widely accepted standards relating to compliance with the law, being honest in dealings, and showing respect for individuals, contracts, societal standards and institutions; ethical includes the provisions of the Project Management Institute's Code of Ethics, available at: www.pmi.org/about/ethics/code;
- for socially: environmental, community and sustainability expectations;
- for culturally: interpretations wider than just ethnicity.

A project refers to a temporary group activity designed to produce a discrete product, service, or result.

Project management refers to the application of specialist knowledge, skills, tools and techniques to project activities to meet the project requirements.

- 4 All assessment evidence for this standard must be sourced from the same project, which can be a different project to that used for other standards.
